Observations in the Lower Zechstein near Triptis and Neustadt/Orla

VOLKER SINGER

Abstract

Temporary exposures made it possible to observe local facies at the Zechstein basis in the 90s. The well-known descriptions of sediments are complemented by two additional examples: 1) marin-fluvial interlayered bedding with possible, temporary dewatering (cone-in-cone structures) around the Uhlersdorfer clast-embankment in the east and west of Triptis and 2) pothole cobbles near Neustadt.
